PLATT AND ROOSEVELT.

The Tioga Boss Afraid of the Excise Attitude.

Boss Platt rounded up some of his advisers at Manhattan Beach last night, and to the cadences of the sad sea waves, discussed the elegant times ahead in the way of rows.

The most momentous subject tackled was Roosevelt and his Sunday-closing mania. The autocrat of Mulberry street has put the G.O.P. in a most understrable position and the Boss and his advisers must find a way out.

It is reported that the conferrees last night decided the best thing to do is to come out for an open vote on local option and get the vexatious problem out of the way. There will be another conference on Saturday, it is understood, at which the matter will be talked over again.

VALENTINE A QUITTER.

Jimmy Handler Turned an Expected Fight Into a Farce.

If ever two hundred sports were bun-oed, they were when they paid $2 each for tickets to witness a ten-round bout between Jimmy Handler, of Newark, Burgiars Find Brooklyn a Fruitful and a so-called boxer by the name of J. George Valentine, who claims to hall from Newark.

The holders of tickets were quietly "tipped" last hight that the fight was to be decided in a barn in Hackensack at 10 o'clock. The fighters lost no time in getting ready, and at 10.30 they jumped into the ring. Handler weighed in at 133 pounds, and had as his seconds Jack Kenny and Charley Smith, while Valentine tipped the scales at 135 pounds, and had as his attendants Maurice Hagerstrom and Jack McDonaid. Johnny Eckhardt was referee, and Mike Doyle held the watch.

Just before time was called Valentine's manager jumped into the ring and shouted: "There are only $56 in the house and my man won't fight for that!"

FOUGHT IN A ROAD-HOUSE.

McDonald Bested Purdy in a Fiere Ten-Round Battle.

Jack McDonald, of Newark, and Joe Purdy, of Brooklyn, met in a skin-tight glove figh' early yesterday afternoon in a road house in Linden, N. J., for a purse of $100. The fight was a flerce one purse of $100. The fight was a fierce one and before the second round was over both boys were bleeding and tired. In the tenth round both started to finish the fight and exchanged blow for blow. When time was called both boys could hardly stand, and the referee, Charley Burke, stoped the fight and gave the decision to McDonald, who received $75, Purdy getting $25.
